

Building a Campus Culture of Diversity and Inclusion (2015-)

In 1866, exactly 100 years before the first class entered Virginia Wesleyan, the land on which our University lies was used to help recently freed slaves make the transition to freedom. Throughout its history, our campus has placed a priority on being a dynamic and cohesive community where significant transitions occur in people's lives, and to be a place that emf partnership and more opportunities for our students.

2019: We worked with our partners at Sentara Sports Medicine to provide a more gender balanced sports medicine staff that reflects the growth in women's intercollegiate athletics.

award recognizes an outstanding student from an underrepresented population for their academic achievement and contributions to campus and/or the Coastal Virginia community.

2021: We separated the NCAA Senior Woman Administrator role from that of the Athletic Director to ensure another another
